High Street 'dies' in Tesco funeral protest

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

CAMPAIGNERS against a planned Tesco supermarket in Newport Pagnell made their feelings very clear in a unique parade.

On Saturday residents sought to show that building a Tesco supermarket on the Aston Martin Lagonda site in Tickford Street would herald the death of the town's high street and heritage.

Just before midday they staged a funeral procession with a hearse carrying a coffin with 'RIP High Street' garlands followed by a cortege of classic cars and ghouls pushing trolleys filled with Tesco bags.

They passed temporarily boarded-up shops with 'closed for business', 'last days' and 'everything must go' signs, enacting the apocalyptic affect they argue the retail giant would have.

The high street's requiem was the music of three marching bagpipers, its death rattle the sound of trolleys clattering over the Iron Bridge.

Leading the dirge was the 'grim retailer', Tom Lonergan, chairman of the TESNO campaign group.

Wielding a scythe emblazoned with the words 'every little hurts', he said: "We're not against Tesco, we're just pro our high street. We don't want a ghost town. Retailers are living off the crumbs at the moment. If those crumbs are taken away the high street will die a death. We have a community here. You can't buy one of those, and you can't get one free."

Cleverly scheduled on the day of Bonham's Aston Martin car sale, it was aptly given a '007 licence to kill&the high street' theme.

TESNO is exploring plans to preserve the world's oldest standing coach-makers, on which Tesco has applied to build a 15,000 square foot store.

The drive to stop it setting up shop is a matter of life or death for Harry Dhotar's Tickford Superstore, which he has run for 23 years.

"I'm well known here," he said. "But if Tesco comes it will ruin the whole town, and me. I would have to shut down."

One man who came to pay his disrespects to Tesco said: "I think it would be the death of the town centre. It would suck life blood out of it. Shops will go, people will stop using the high street. It will become like Wolverton."

Linda and Alan Piggott even postponed their holiday to Northumberland to attend.

Mrs Piggott said: "We love this town. Before we moved to Newport Pagnell 32 years ago we used to come on holiday here. We just don't want to see it destroyed."

Town planner Mervyn Dobbin, Newport Pagnell resident of 30 years, said: "This is just the first phase. It's about preserving something important. We are fighting Tescoisation."

A Tesco spokesman said that they are maintaining all the buildings with a view to seeing how they might be incorporated into their plans.

She said: "We believe the majority of people who live in Newport Pagnell are already leaving the town to do their main food shopping.

"We want to provide them with the option to shop locally and as part of our ongoing discussions with the local community, we want to explore how this can have a positive impact on the high street for local people and local businesses alike."

The outgoing mayor, Cllr Jan Lloyd congratulates new mayor Cllr Euan Henderson last night

New mayor's charity will help tsunami children

THE new mayor of Milton Keynes was sworn in last night.

Liberal Democrat Cllr Euan Henderson has taken up the chains of office from outgoing mayor Jan Lloyd.

His deputy will be Cllr Debbie Brock.

The mayor's charity for this year is Hope Outreach UK, based in Great Linford.

With the city's help the charity plans to build another child welfare home on the eastern coast of Sri Lanka. This home will look after the basic, emotional and educational needs of the traumatised children who have been orphaned following the country's civil war and Boxing Day 2004 tsunami.

Councillors drop Tesco shop plans

Cheers from the public gallery as planning officers' advice is ignored

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

IN a surprise decision, Milton Keynes Council has refused Tesco's plans to double the size of its store in Wolverton.

Around 30 people in the public gallery cheered as councillors decided the proposals would have a detrimental impact on the viability and vitality of the town centre and be out of keeping with the conservation area.

After a special three-hour meeting on Thursday night councillors turned down the application despite a recommendation to give permission by council officers.

Members of local town councils, business associations and residents pleaded for the council to protect local shops while The Living Archive and community centre praised the new facilities that Tesco would provide.

After a motion to approve the application – with a long list of conditions – failed, the decision to refuse was passed with three councillors in support, one against and four abstaining.

Campaigner Jamie Chalmers

Tesco hopes to replace the existing store with a new shop built on stilts bringing it up to the same level as the shops on Stratford Road. The retail giant now has the chance to appeal to the Government's planning inspectorate.

Jamie Chalmers, founder of a residents' group against the plans said: "The councillors made the right decision based on planning reasons. It is clear it would have a negative impact not only on Wolverton but on towns in the surrounding area.

"If one shop could represent more than 50 per cent of the retail floor space in Wolverton as this would it can't be a good thing for the town. The council has stood up against Tesco and this is a good sign for those campaigning against the store planned in Newport Pagnell."

Tesco claims the proposals would provide a large investment in Wolverton including a new community centre, four new retail units and 250 new jobs.

Tony Fletcher, corporate affairs manager for Tesco said: "We are surprised and disappointed that the development control committee did not approve our application for Wolverton.

"We believe that we had submitted an application in line with the local development plan and Government policy, which would have provided local jobs which we are well aware are much needed.

"We have worked in great detail over the past four years with the local community on our proposals to get them right.

"Tesco will now be examining all the options open to us before we make a decision on the next steps."

Hospital blunders claims rise

THE number of payouts for clinical negligence by Milton Keynes Hospital has risen.

The most recent figures, released under the Freedom of Information Act, show that in the year until March, 2008, 42 claims were closed by the hospital, an increase from 23 the year before.

However the amount paid out last year, £1,418,871, was far less than the £6,575,549 the year before.

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Hospital said: "There's obviously changes to the legal profession you have no win no fee, so we see more claims. However with quality improvements the amounts are reducing. We try and learn from our mistakes."

Ban buses call on 'exclusive' estate

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

RESIDENTS in Oxley Park are battling against a new bus service running through the estate.

MK NEWS has discovered that a bus was blocked on Harlow Crescent to protest against the new service from Central Milton Keynes.

Residents appear to have waited for a bus to stop and parked cars front and back to stop it moving.

A spokesman for Thames Valley Police said officers were called at 4.10pm on Saturday, May 2 and attended 20 minutes later to help resolve the situation.

Paul Balladon, from Harlow Crescent, has collected 150 signatures on a petition to protest peacefully against the Central Milton Keynes to Westcroft service, which was introduced three weeks ago.

The Number 2 service stops every 20 minutes at three new bus stops inside the Oxley Park estate in Hepburn Close and Harlow Crescent.

Mr Balladon said residents are frustrated as the buses run straight through residential streets and are noisy, unsafe for the local children and cause traffic congestion.

He said the lengths some residents have apparently gone to protest shows the severity of the situation.

He said: "It is all three storey buildings down Harlow Crescent which amplify the noise. It sounds like a mini earthquake every single time. The buses run from 7am until 12 at night; we can't sleep.

"This is an exclusive estate and we have managed for three years already without a bus service. The majority of us, if not all, therefore already have our own cars and have no need to utilise the bus service.

"We do not propose stopping it, we do realise they are there for a reason, but we would like to have the bus route only on non-residential roads."

Bus stop: Petitioner Paul Balladon of Harlow Crescent, Oxley Park

A spokesman for the council said it is unlikely the route would be changed as the service is tied in to funding agreements made with the housing developers before the estate was built.

Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member for transport at Milton Keynes Council said: "The council has a policy of promoting public transport.

"I have heard from bus drivers who are concerned that some residents have parked cars deliberately to try and stop buses and have been threatened by residents with baseball bats. This is just unacceptable behaviour. We live in a democracy and people are entitled to get on a bus.

"There will be people who will rely on that service. There are buses running through all the other estates, why should this be any different?"

Bus operator Arriva declined to comment.

Stantonbury students tell the 'Crime Minister' what life's like on the street

A GOVERNMENT minister received a mixed reception when he met a group of students to learn about anti-social behaviour in Milton Keynes.

Alan Campbell, Home Office Minister responsible for crime reduction, took a brief tour of the city yesterday, visiting Netherfield, Stantonbury Campus and the Community Safety Partnership.

He watched a drama presentation by 16 and 17-year-olds and listened to their views on the role of parents, the media and police in tackling bad behaviour.

The students highlighted the unbalanced perception of young people in society but not all were convinced that the minister could help.

Ben Mair, 16, said: "He kept trying to make it seem like he knows what's happening but I don't think he really does know what's happening with the people today.

"He could do some good but you never see anything really happen. What's the point in having these action groups if no one knows about it?

"You need to make people more aware or do something new."

Ben and his classmates have produced a film addressing arson, underage drinking and knife culture.

Mr Campbell spoke about investment made by the government in campaigns such as Frank, the drug helpline, and the task facing local authorities.

He said: "My job isn't just to support the partnerships but to challenge them to do more.

"My message is that no one is above the law, people should be held accountable if they can't behave properly and local authorities must be prepared to use the powers that are available.

"I hope residents will have the confidence to become actively involved in their communities, get along to the meetings, make sure that the police and the council know what their priorities are."

Xanthe King, 16, said: "I don't feel safe on the street and it's nice to know that someone is doing something about it.

"I think it would be nice to have something like free rape alarms in school, we would feel a lot safer."

Are you being served?

SIR – We DO NOT need Tesco in Newport Pagnell.

We in Newport Pagnell are served by a Tesco Express at Elthorne, and a Tesco Extra at the Kingston shopping complex.

I cannot see why there is a need for another large store.

This will kill the small town of Newport Pagnell, there are only some 15,000 people living here – why do we need a super store for so few people?

Thanks for Tesco 'no'

SIR – On 'Councillors say 'no' to bigger Wolverton Tesco'.

Well done and thank you Milton Keynes Council.

Now let's see some council action to support community-led initiatives to increase resilience to the challenges of peak oil and climate change.

Watch the birdies

SIR – Please, please, please, will someone stop the council from tearing down bushes and decapitating trees in the name of coppicing.

Coppicing should only be done from October to the beginning of March. We are in the month of May!

It is bad practice to carry out this action when the birds are nesting and laying eggs.

Doesn't anyone at the council care about the environment?

Come on Milton Keynes, do something!

Spending a penny

SIR – Regarding the new coachway.

Toilets did not feature in the article so I hope they will not be forgotten.

Perhaps we should set an example of fiscal responsibilty, recognise the need for austerity, hand back the £620k to Government and continue with the more centrally located and arguably more appropriate Campbell Park facilty.

In any case it looks as if the proposed new Coachway could be built with parts scavenged from the soon-to-be-demolished Hockey Stadium.

Tree feller

SIR – Following your editorial on the petition started by Graham Wall about the felled trees in Quinton Drive, I would like to add comment.

Not all residents are unhappy with the work that has been carried out.

It was nothing but a dumping ground for those residents who found it easier to throw their garden waste over the fence and into the cutting.

I'm sure it was many of those residents that actually signed the petition.

It also looks to have allowed much more light into the homes and gardens that actually back onto it. It was cleared around five years ago and grew back and I'm sure it will once again.

The hard work looked to have also been carried out in a tidy, safe and professional manner.

Mr Wall is lucky that his neighbours and other residents have not actually started a petition against the NASA-sized satellite dish fixed to the front of his house.

Old soldiers never die – expenses fade away

SIR – I was really pleased by the front page coverage you gave in last week's MK NEWS on the search to identify the missing soldiers from the battle of Fromelles.

The Commonwealth War Graves Commission does a huge service for the country, largely unnoticed by the public.

It was an incredible act to research and find the unmarked graves, and even more remarkable that after 90 odd years they can name missing soldiers from Milton Keynes who served in the First World War.

My own great grandfather served in the Royal Engineers during the Great War before returning injured to New Bradwell. He was one of the fortunate ones.

I hope that readers will visit www.fromelles.org <http://www.fromelles.org/> to find out more about the work to identify and construct a lasting memorial to the fallen soldiers.

As the Veteran's Minister commented: 'These men gave their lives for this country and everything possible will be done to identify and then lay them to rest with the full honours they deserve'.

In today's world a lot of media coverage and news is driven by celebrity and scandal, particularly the current relationship of some MPs to their expense claims.

So I really wanted to say well done to the MK NEWS team for choosing to highlight this important local story.

Labour & Co-operative Parliamentary Spokespman for Milton Keynes North

Broughton anger

SIR – I am appalled by what you said about Broughton.

Not only am I angry, but my whole class is too. You were out of order to write that about Broughton.

There are lots of places in Broughton that my class and I love, like our school. There are fun activities and lots of area to run around and also lots of education.

In your article you mentioned that there's no Scouts Club, well people are opening a Sure Start Children Centre where you can get clubs, advice and much more.

There are lots of things to do in Broughton. It's peaceful to look at all the rare flowers, like bluebells. We have seen lots of them around Broughton.

I've lived in Broughton since I was two and there has never been a problem. It is a safe envornment and there are lots of shops to walk to and health facilities. I hope you have changed your mind.

■ SIR – I live in Netherfield and am looking to move out, by mutual exchange through the council.

A Milton Keynes Council officer spoke to me about Broughton a few weeks ago, yet having read about that estate in MK NEWS days beforehand, I'd already decided that Broughton would be a 'no' for me.

Jessica Cunniffe's report was enlightening as it was impartial, correctly informative and understanding, but Richard's account of Broughton (Letters, April 29) becoming a future Netherfield/Fishermead hit the nail on the head and made my mind up.

I utterly agree with Joyce Hall's acknowledgement that Richard's perception (Letters, May 6) of the people living in Netherfield, playing loud music, sitting around all day etc is extremely uneducated.

I want to leave Netherfield the majority of trouble makers and litter dumpers is bigger, but I will be leaving some of the most community spirited and special people I have ever met behind too.

Name and address supplied

■ SIR – I'd like to reply to Richard's comments on social experiment failed in his letter.

I am a single mum who was given my flat in Broughton via a housing association.

I start college full time in September and uni the following year to study midwifery.

I am a decent, law-abiding citizen who takes pride in her flat does not play loud music and certainly does not throw rubbish around the streets.

He is tarring everyone with the same brush.

This article left me feeling very upset, offended and basically as if my daughter and I are not welcome and do not belong here.

Gaza still suffering

SIR – In January, many people in Milton Keynes were appalled by the carnage caused by the Israeli invasion of Gaza.

They wrote letters to MK NEWS, signed petitions and wrote to their MPs.

Although Gaza is no longer in the news, the suffering of its civilians continues as a result of Israel's blockade of Gaza. Aid is literally rotting at the border while thousands of people go hungry. Thousands of people are homeless as reconstruction has barely begun.

On Saturday members of Milton Keynes Stop the War Group, together with MK members of the Palestine Solidarity Campaign and supporters, will be travelling down to London to join a national demonstration to show that we have not forgotten Gaza and its suffering.

People can join us at CMK Station at around 10.30 am on Saturday.

Redways an asset

SIR – Our 280 km of redways are a fantastic opportunity for our city's sustainable development.

For young and old, parents with buggies, family outings and wheelchair user.

All can enjoy the fresh air, peace and freedom the redways offer connecting parks, leisure facilities and shops along landscaped routes away from the danger, pollution and noise of traffic.

Imagine how crowded our roads would be if everyone moved around the city using only the roads.

A new appraoch is urgently required to ensure one of our greatest assets does not disappear altogether.

A lot of car for £249,000

BUYERS came from all over the world to spend £3m on classic cars at the 'heritage home' of Aston Martin.

On Saturday, Newport Pagnell was filled with motoring enthusiasts, some from as far away as Singapore, Australia, America and the Middle East, for Bonhams' tenth auction at the company's Works facility.

Sales of cars and automobilia totalled £2,975,357 and there was a record number of attendees.

The top seller was lot 340, a 1965 Aston Martin DB5 4.2 litre saloon, above, which was estimated to sell for £150,000 to £180,000 but actually made £249,000.

It returned to the auction room after being sold at the first Aston Martin Works sale back in 2000 for £60,000, before it was restored by their heritage team.

The surprise sale of the day was the 'barn find' 1963 Aston Martin DB5 Series V saloon, fought over by six absentee, seven telephone bidders, and finally sold to a bidder in the room for £85,000.

Bonhams' James Knight, who took the sale, said: "After a decade of Aston Martin and Lagonda sales at Newport Pagnell, the event has established itself on the classic car auction calendar.

"It provides an unequalled setting for all who love fine engineering and beautiful cars. The Aston Martin magic just continues to grow."

Kingsley Riding-Felce, director of Works Service and Parts Operations, added: "We are delighted to have once again hosted Bonhams' international auction here at Works Service.

"Many Aston Martin enthusiasts take advantage of this annual event to return to the heritage home of Aston Martin."

City a loser as recession bites

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes has been ranked the fourth hardest hit by the recession in the UK.

A study by price comparison website uSwitch.com has revealed that city residents and workers are among those who have lost out the most in the current economic crisis.

The website has examined salary levels, unemployment, property prices and council tax across 98 of the largest local authorities in Britain over the past two years until April 22.

It showed that while average annual earnings have in fact gone up 2.2 per cent in Milton Keynes, house prices have plummeted 17 per cent, the number of people claiming job seekers allowance has more than doubled and council tax has gone up 3.7 per cent.

According to uSwitch only Swindon, York and Durham have been hit harder by the recession over the last year.

Ann Robinson, director of consumer policy at uSwitch.com, said: "Our research shows that the icy grip of recession is anything but even handed with the economic climate highlighting clear winners and losers across the UK. For once, this isn't a north/south divide as some areas in the south east are being hit far harder than anywhere else in the country.

"This research is designed to focus on the impact that the recession has on the man in the street."

■ The number of people signed up for jobseekers allowance in Milton Keynes is the highest recorded in nearly 14 years. The latest official figures have revealed that 4.7 per cent of working age people in the city claimed jobseekers allowance in March, 0.4 per cent higher than the month before.

The rate is the highest recorded in Milton Keynes since September 1995. It means 6,967 people claimed, over 460 more than in February and 3,707 higher than in March 2008.

Since the new year there has been an increase of 2,494 people signed on.

The rate in March remains higher than the regional average of 2.9 per cent (itself up 0.1 per cent from February) and above the national average of four per cent (up 0.2 per cent).

Grid decision

GRID road supporters could have a decision soon on whether the city's original road layout will be extended into the Western Expansion Area.

Developers Gallaghers are set to issue a report next week that will be considered by planners at Milton Keynes Council and Milton Keynes Partnership.

The study, not available to the public, is a result of meetings between the council and developers following public pressure.

Work set to start on delayed Coachway

False start: Cllr Chris Williams before the bulldozer moves in to demolish the old Coachway

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

WORK on the delayed £2.6million Coachway building is set to start in a matter of weeks.

Local contractor Rok has been chosen by Milton Keynes Council to construct the new state-of-the-art facility, near junction 14.

The project is now set to be completed in Spring 2010, a year after it was originally planned to be opened.

The terminal is going to cost £620,000 more than first thought. The extra money will come from growth funding awarded to the city by the Government.

Two million pounds has been provided by the Homes and Community Agency, the new name for English Partnerships.

Cllr Chris Williams, transport spokesman for Milton Keynes Council said: "The contract has been awarded to Rok subject to the council's call-in procedures. Work on the building will start in about two weeks assuming that no difficulties are raised by councillors, parish councils or town councils.

"The coachway is the second most used coach terminal in England and deserves a building of very high calibre. We hope to provide an iconic station to welcome people to wonderful Milton Keynes.

"I am confident that the grand opening in Spring will be achieved."

The new terminal will have a striking roof canopy with roof lights above the coach bays, a heated waiting area for 100 people, a cafe, a convenience shop and a ticket office for the National Express Group.

Meanwhile commuters will spend a second year using the temporary coach station built off Silbury Boulevard in Campbell Park.

Canal-side watering hole for charity walkers

THIRSTY fund-raisers walked through Milton Keynes as part of an eight day trek to Twickenham.

Supporters of the Matt Hampson Trust visited the Barley Mow at Cosgrove as part of the sponsored walk along the Grand Union Canal from Rugby to the home of English rugby in time for the Guinness Premiership final between Leicester Tigers and London Irish.

The trust was established to provide ongoing support for the promising young Leicester Tigers and England Under-21 rugby star Matt Hampson, whose career was tragically cut short after an accident in training four years ago which left him paralysed from the neck down.

The Cosgrove pub was en route and licensees Adrian and Debbie Pearson offered to stage a garden party with live music and a barbecue for the walkers. They also provided overnight mooring for the 12 barges acting as support vehicles during the event and managed to raise £500.

Licensee Adrian said: "The walk is a real challenge for the teams taking part and we wanted to offer as warm a welcome as possible for everyone involved."

Baby's the winner in generation game

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A NEWBORN baby is receiving even more attention than most because his family now spans five living generations.

Connor Harris is a healthy baby boy, born at Milton Keynes Hospital weighing 6lbs 15ounces, but he is one of the lucky few who have the chance to meet their great, great grandmother.

At the head of the family is 91-year-old Rachel Buckland who was born as the First World War ended in 1918.

In April she met baby Connor for the first time, alongside his great grandfather, Cyril Buckland, 67, grandfather, Robert Buckland, 41, and proud mum, Nicolle Buckland, 19, who lives with her partner Danny Harris in Penn Road, Bletchley, said: "I don't think there are many families like ours.

"The first thing my gran told me after Connor was born was that we've got five generations now. She was really excited. We've got a massive family and Connor gets really spoilt. Danny's mum's had six kids and my mum five. I'm not expecting any more just yet though!"

Company counts the cost of fly posting

A FOOTBALL league operator has been fined for fly posting.

Leisure Leagues (Europe) Ltd, which organises six-a-side leagues, was convicted of illegal advertising at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday.

The court heard that in September last year, posters and banners advertising the company's product were placed around Bletchley.

Inquiries by officers from the city's Safer Communities Unit led them to Leisure Leagues (Europe) Ltd, a company based in Warwickshire.

Attempts to interview the company directors were unsuccessful and in December 2008, three more of its adverts appeared in Bletchley and Central Milton Keynes.

Magistrates found the company guilty in the absence of any representatives and fined it £17,500 for the seven illegal signs. It was also ordered to pay the council's legal costs of £1,426.35.

Pete Roberts, safer communities manager said: "This company used Milton Keynes highways for what it must have thought was a cheap way to advertise its business. It is now realising that it has cost them dearly."

The Loughton & Shenley over 60s group who received a grant to fund a canal trip

Foundation still offering grants

A GRANT-GIVING body is continuing to dish out donations despite the downturn.

Almost £100,000 of grassroots grants have now been awarded to community groups in the city by Milton Keynes Community Foundation.

Last month a further £14,125 in the form of grants ranging from £500 to £5,000 have allowed more groups to develop.

A grant to Newport Pagnell Brownies has enabled them to fund the cost of a sleepover for the group, while £5,000 to the Electric Picture Palace Project will fund the purchase of equipment for their mobile cinema with a longer term view to establish an audience for independent cinema.

A grant awarded to local breast cancer support group Bosom Pals, which has helped 500 people in 16 years, will fund the production of business cards, leaflets and posters to promote their service.

AFC Brickhill Rangers Junior Section will cover the cost of buying new football kits, and training equipment for their various teams.

■ The next deadline for applications is June 19. To find out if your group is eligible call the grants team today on 01908 690276 or visit www.mkcommunity foundation .co.uk/grants

Talks on future of transport in city

Packed seminar hears ideas from business, retail and voluntary groups plus city councillors

PLANS for future transport provision in the city have been discussed

Representatives from business, retail and voluntary groups joined Milton Keynes councillors and staff at a packed seminar held at the Civic Offices earlier this month.

Cllr Douglas McCall, the cabinet member responsible for long term planning on transport, opened the seminar, before the guests were then split in to teams to wrestle with the following question: How would you meet the challenges MK is facing with regard to growth and future congestion?

The wide-ranging discussions and workshops covered numerous proposals including as the work place parking levy, concessions for Milton Keynes residents, and introducing 'green' parking permits offering cheap parking for low emission vehicles.

Cllr McCall added: "There were lots if ideas being floated around and it was important to get input and views from people from all of the relevant areas.

"Everyone agreed that there is no one single solution, no magic wand to wave, particularly because of the MK's uniqueness we need a unique solution. But it was a full and frank debate and there were some very interesting ideas floated, ranging from a free bus day, to show people the quality of the bus service, to Park & Rides outside of the city centre."

Kay Greenhalgh, city centre manager at the Central Milton Keynes Partnership, said: "Good transport provision is vital to the success of the city centre and we were pleased to discuss this in partnership with the council. The different sectors making up the CMKP range from business, retail and leisure providers to the voluntary and community sector and all are keen to contribute to the council's delivery of a balanced transport provision meeting the needs of users of the city as we grow."

Deborah Strazza, managing director at John Lewis Partnership Milton Keynes, added: "John Lewis were pleased to be invited to attend this meeting. It gave us an opportunity to discuss not only the longer term planning needed to deal with potential congestion as our city grows, but also give feedback on the specific recommendations for car parking charges this year.

"We remain committed to finding a transport solution which balances the need for investment in public transport and the increased costs for customers and those working in the city centre now.

"And, I hope this is the start of cross party working groups to help us find solutions which actually give people a choice on method of travel and includes buses & car but also cycling and walking."

In recent years, the council and its partners have invested nearly £42m in transport improvements in MK, most recently on work at Junction 14 roundabout and others to improve traffic flow, also making it possible for buses to run more reliably.

Visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/mkparking to find out more. You can also meet staff from the parking team every Thursday lunchtime outside door one of thecentre:mk (by M&S) until the parking consultation ends on May 27.

High-life criminals boost cops' coffers

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

JET-SETTING criminals will see their money used to improve local police services which have been boosted by a £280,000 share of seized assets.

The war chest is Thames Valley Police's cut of £32million of cash and property taken in the last three months of 2008 from thieves, drug dealers, fraudsters and other criminals living the life of luxury on the back of other people's misery.

The cash will be ploughed back into frontline policing across the force, including services in Milton Keynes.

The Home Office announced that £5.5million will be shared between the country's police, with the rest going to prosecutors, courts and other agencies.

Over the last year, Milton Keynes has witnessed its own share of crooks living the high life.

A fortnight ago a married couple were ordered to repay £3,450 after they were caught living a jet set lifestyle using £88,000 from falsely-claimed benefits.

Debra and Nicholas Butland, of High Street, Potterspury, admitted making false statements to obtain income support, housing benefit, council tax credit, disability living allowance, and carers' allowance.

A council investigation found that the couple were running a property business in Bulgaria, their bank accounts revealed cash flows of more than £1m, and a house in London worth more than £200,000.

Mrs Butland received a 32-week suspended sentence and Mr Butland served five weeks behind bars.

Under the Proceeds of Crime Act 2003, police forces and asset recovery agencies can apply to the courts to strip criminals of the wealth they believe has been earned through crime.

An incentive scheme allows police to retain half of all cash they seize.

Home Office Minister Vernon Coaker said: "This scheme is a great benefit for policing.

"Taking money from criminals makes crime far less profitable for them.

"At the same time, that money is ploughed directly back into the police force that seized it so they can use it for their fight against crime in their area.

"Recovering more than £31million from criminals in the space of three months is a great achievement and I want to thank the police and other partners for their hard work in seizing the money and undermining criminal gangs."

In another case last year, the courts ordered the forfeiture of £207,000 after two men used a limousine business in Bletchley, Absolute Executive Travel, as a cover to sell cocaine.

Paul Berry, 38, from Kirkwood Grove, Medbourne, and Stephen Jackson, 43, from Lucas Place, Woughton on the Green, were jailed for six years for conspiracy to supply class A drugs.

The investigation led the the Economic Crime Unit to Spain, where they seized £207,000 from Liverpudlian, Gerard Shields, aged 27, who was convicted of money laundering.

Cash to separate sexes at hospital

PATIENT privacy at Milton Keynes Hospital could improve thanks to a cash injection of more than half a million pounds.

The trust is set to receive £510,000 funding from South Central Strategic Health Authority to help reduce mixed sex accommodation to an absolute minimum and meet new Government guidelines.

The change comes into force in April 2010 and will mean that inpatients should not have to pass patients of the opposite sex to reach their own bathrooms and toilets.

It will ensure that male and female patients do not share bays, toilets or bathrooms, even in emergency assessment areas.

A hospital spokesman said: "Most inpatient wards at Milton Keynes Hospital are already divided into single-sex bays separated by walls.

"The trust is now taking the bold step of reconfiguring more single sex wards and plans to improve privacy and dignity levels in assessment units, such as the Clinical Decisions Unit and the Surgical Assessment Unit."

Director of facilities, Bob Heavisides, said: "People often feel at their most vulnerable when they are in hospital and protecting patient privacy and dignity is key to ensuring that service users have a good experience whilst in our care

City's new homes build target reduced

THE Government has scrapped its plans to build 5,600 homes east of the M1.

The controversial proposals were deleted from the final version of the South East Plan, published on May 6.

The target was added to the plan by government in July 2008 and was strongly opposed by Milton Keynes Council, Milton Keynes Partnership, the South East Regional Assembly and the Environment Agency.

The 5,600 homes have also been deducted from the housing target for Milton Keynes, meaning they will not have to be built elsewhere in the city.

Ian Haynes, chief spatial planner at Milton Keynes Council, said: "It is excellent news for Milton Keynes that government has responded to our objections."

City MP Mark Lancaster said: "Finally it appears that the Government have seen sense and scrapped this mad idea. Having raised the issue in Parliament again and again it is a relief that for once the democratic process appears to have worked."

Rebuilt play-park swings into action

A PLAY-PARK has been given a new lease of life.

The play area in Edison Square, Shenley Lodge had fallen into disrepair and had become a target for vandalism.

So Shenley Brook End & Tattenhoe Parish Council, supported by Furzton & Shenley Lodge Neighbourhood Action Group, approached Milton Keynes Council with a plan to replace the old equipment and re-model the site.

The final result provides facilities for all ages from toddlers right up to adults with traditional swings, a fenced games area, and fitness equipment. There's even a petanque piste.

More than 200 residents came to the official opening by the mayor of Milton Keynes, Cllr Jan Lloyd.

Parish Council chairman Cllr David Livingstone said: "It's taken nearly three years, and £85,000 to get this project up and running.

"We asked residents, including hundreds of children, what equipment they would like, and I think we've come up with a good mix for all ages. Funding came from three sources; £60,000 as a grant from WREN, £15,000 from Milton Keynes Council, and £10,000 from the parish council."

Paul Mitchell, sports ambassador for MK Dons offered advice to the many children who attended, and Thames Valley Police provided a free security marking service for mobile phones.

Allergy test fights hospital superbug

A GROUND-BREAKING allergy test will be trialled at Milton Keynes Hospital in an effort to reduce outbreaks of deadly superbug infections.

The hospital will pilot an innovative skin test to discover if patients can safely use penicillin rather than antibiotics which could increase the risk of contracting infections such as C diff and MRSA.

The initiative points to research showing that 80 to 90 per cent of patients who report a penicillin allergy do not have a 'true' allergy. The testing will provide the hospital's respiratory team with allergy results in under 30 minutes.

Dr Rahul Mukherjee said: "It is difficult to determine who is truly allergic and often the simplest approach is adopted, whereby penicillin is avoided. "The problem is that the use of broad-spectrum antibiotics is a predominant risk factor for C diff. The skin test that we are piloting is simple and safe.

By reducing the unnecessary prescribing of antibiotics, the superbugs' resistance to antibiotics can be reduced.

Tired of the fat mummy pictures?

After the birth of my third son, my weight had crept up to the highest it had ever been, this wasn't just a result of the pregnancy (although I liked to blame that) but due to my diet of quick sugar fixes, snacks and comfort eating over the last few years. At a time when I should have been happy and elated, I felt depressed as I was the biggest I had ever been, and hated the sight of myself. I tried dieting for a few months and thought about going back to the previous weight loss clubs and diets that I had been on over the years, but they hadn't worked back then, so why would they work now? I was still living in my maternity clothes as I couldn't accept or face buying the correct size for my shape.

It was my husband who found the advertisement for SureSlim in a local magazine and after reading the article he convinced me to give them a call to find out more. How could they help me? I thought it would just be another slimming club/points/colour menu to follow, as I'd tried most of them in the past, and they hadn't worked, why would this one be any different... How wrong I was!!

When I went along for my first consultation, I weighed 12.5 stone and was a Size 16, but after chatting with one of the SureSlim consultants, I came out feeling positive, motivated and raring to go. After my blood tests results came back, an eating plan was put together, personalised for me, taking into account my food likes and dislikes. I started the programme on 3rd January 2008 and at my first weigh in 7 days later I was amazed to learn that I had lost 10.5lbs! By the end of January, with the help of my weekly visits to SureSlim and my new food plan, I had lost 18.5lbs! I couldn't believe it as it hadn't been hard at all and my energy was soaring! With all the support from my husband, family, friends and my SureSlim consultant, the weight just kept falling off, and I have never felt so good - I felt alive!

I have so much energy now and my health is so much better too. My heart palpitations that I'd suffered from regularly over the past 18 years were a thing of the past, and this just proved to me that they had been a result of my high sugar/chocolate mixed diet that I had been consuming over the years. I haven't had a palpitation or even a flutter since I started SureSlim 6 months ago!

My husband and kids were the ones that really noticed the big change in me first, not only was I losing weight, looking and feeling better about myself, but my energy is endless! They have told me that I am a happier person to live with and my family love the new me! By the end of April 2008, I had reached my goal weight, losing a total of 39.5lbs (just under 3 stone) and 23 inches. I am now on the Lifestyle plan which is as it says, not a diet, but a lifestyle change to eating, which keeps my eating healthily and gives me the figure and person I have dreamed of being for years!

SureSlim changed my life around in such a short space of time and gave me back my confidence and my femininity that had been buried for so many years! Thank you SureSlim.

Look at me now!

Mr and Mrs Macken - Middleton

COUNCIL recycling officers are out and about early twice every week to hand over £100 to residents who are recycling the correct items and placing their refuse and recycling on their property boundary so we know which sacks belong to which property.

If you place your pink and black sacks in a pile with your neighbours', we can't check your pink sacks to make sure you're recycling correctly so we have to move on to the nearest neighbour to find a winner. Please make sure you don't miss out as you never know when we might be coming to your area.

Since it began in June 2007, Cash for Trash, the council's incentive scheme rewarding residents who recycle, has given away in the region of £10,000 to lucky residents recycling correctly with their pink sacks and blue boxes.

Our original sponsor Community Waste from our recycling facility gives away a cheque for £100. Our new refuse and recycling contractor Serco offers a second prize of £100 of Love2shop gift vouchers which can be redeemed at many high street outlets - for more information visit: www.highstreetvouchers.com/gift-vouchers/love2shop-vouchers.

All properties are randomly selected by computer - recently we've visited Bletchley, Woburn Sands, Heelands, Two Mile Ash, Middleton, Netherfield, Walnut Tree and Stoke Goldington.

To find out more about the Cash for Trash scheme, see a gallery of some of our recent winners and to check out the rules in full, visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/cashfortrash.

Mystery moo: Do you know who left this cow grazing at the back entrance of Stony Stratford Lawn Tennis Club's courts on Ostlers Lane? The concrete cows at Bancroft and in the shopping centre have all been accounted for

Seen but not herd

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THIS mystery cow has appeared in Stony Stratford and its origins are puzzling local residents.

The calf apparently took up residence in a back entrance of Stony Stratford Lawn Tennis Club's courts on Ostlers Lane.

Staff from the Milton Keynes Parks Trust, which looks after the genuine concrete cows at Midsummer Place and Bancroft, went to check out the model yesterday.

Liz Woznicki, spokesman for the trust said: "It is a very good copy.

"We were really disappointed – we were hoping to welcome the cow with open arms and reintroduce him to our herd at Midsummer Shopping Centre.

"However, whilst it was a good likeness, unfortunately he was just a bit too floppy. It was made of chicken wire and what looks like painted paper mache.

"The original concrete cows were made out of chicken wire and were also made out of concrete and even the smallest of the real cows are really heavy to pick up.

"We did a head count of our cows at Bancroft and the shopping centre and fortunately they're all accounted for so people can still go and enjoy them."

■ If you know this cow and how it appeared in Stony Stratford we would love to hear from you, e-mail: laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk.

the systemic links between oral health and overall body health. Scientific research links gum disease to: • Heart disease • strokes • diabetes • Premature and low birth weight babies. Call for tax drop on repairs to property

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY property specialist has launched a national campaign designed to help safeguard 250,000 jobs in the UK construction industry.

Rok, based in Fox Milne, Milton Keynes, has begun a 'Repairing Britain' campaign calling for the Government to reduce tax on property repair work.

The company, which provides property repair and maintenance services, is calling for the public to sign a petition on the Downing Street website.

Simon Haddy, area leader for Rok said: "Many people are unaware of the tax inequality that allows those building new homes to be exempt while those making improvements to existing properties are charged at 15 per cent.

With unemployment on the increase and a desperate need for low cost housing, Rok believes the general public should get involved.

"The public can have a major impact in supporting an industry, which provides the foundations for this country."

As part of 'Repairing Britain' expert technicians from Rok are hosting 'Stop the Rot' road shows at the Xscape building, Midsummer Place (near The Point) and the Milton Keynes Central rail station, offering maintenance and repair advice to local people.

Rok boss Garvis Snook launching the company's 'Repairing Britain' campaign requesting a reduction in VAT on property repair work to five per cent

Rok estimates that if, over the next two years, the UK tackled just 20 per cent of the buildings that needed repairing and turning into homes, 250,000 new homes would be created, which would more than satisfy the country's need.

Garvis Snook, chief executive of Rok, said: "The effects of this recession on workers in our industry are an enormous concern. The proposed change to VAT backed by community support can save up to 250,000 jobs and ensure more young people are brought into training within the industry.'"

■ To sign the petition visit http://petitions.number10.gov.uk/repairingbritain/

PARKLIFE

Join the club and go wild

BUG hunting, walking through woods, pond-dipping and building a den – parks are a great way to enjoy the outdoors and get closer to wildlife.

The Parks Trust's Junior Ranger club encourages girls and boys to become intrepid bug hunters, pond detectives, care for the parks, make new friends and learn about nature.

To date the junior rangers have been bug-hunting, moth and bat spotting in the evening, enjoyed day-long rambles and raised money from a sponsored litter clean- up at one of the trust's ancient woods.

The Trust's intrepid set of junior rangers, aged between nine and 12 years, are looking for more rangers to swell the ranks.

Rangers, who will help them to plan their own activities and who will be given the opportunity of undertaking some practical tasks, such as building bird homes or feeders, as well as having fun.

All junior rangers should love adventure, enjoy being outdoors and be interested in wildlife and the countryside around them.

The next meeting will take place on Saturday, June 20 from 10am-5pm at Linford Manor Park and then will meet monthly on a Saturday morning at different park locations across Milton Keynes.

Gordon Redford, park ranger and club leader, said: "We've created a club where we hope kids will have great wildlife experiences that they'll remember forever, but failing that we'll settle for them having great fun, making good friend and sharing our passion for parks.

"It's great to see young rangers blossoming and introducing their own friends and family to the beauty of the great outdoors. We hope that the group will continue to inspire more children to become mini park rangers."

Anyone interested in joining the Junior Rangers Club needs to register with The Parks Trust on 01908 233600 or visit www.theparkstrust.com for further information.

TOMATOLIFE

Grow love apples

TOMATO-LOVERS are being invited to a weekend dedicated to the pommes d'amour or 'love apple'.

Staff at Wyevale, Woburn Sands Garden Centre, on Newport Road, will be hosting a Tomato Growing Weekend on Saturday and Sunday to link in with the start of British Tomato Week.

Kevin Boltrusko, manager of the garden centre, said: "The French were convinced tomatoes had aphrodisiac properties and called them pommes d'amour or 'love apples' but in this country they are simply one of our favourite salad items and they are relatively easy to grow too.

"We hope as many people as possible join us for our Tomato Growing Weekend, which ties in with British Tomato Week.

"We will have displays of tomato plants and the products and equipment you might need to grow them.

"We will also be hosting free planting demonstrations at selected times during the weekend and visitors interested in these should give us a call at the garden centre to find out more.

"The demonstrations will include how to plant up tomatoes in hanging baskets and growbags."

"Staff will be on hand throughout the weekend to give visitors top tips on selecting, planting and growing their own tomatoes. Customers will be able to take home a free advice leaflet."

The new songs have matured and developed naturally in sound that has become a little more structured, song based – melodic if you – will but with out losing the band's legendary raw power.

LITTLE SHOP OF HORRORS

Until Saturday

ONE of the longest-running off-Broadway shows of all time, this affectionate spoof of 1950s sci-fi movies has become a household name thanks to a highly successful film version and a score by the song writing team of Howard Ashman and Alan Menken.

Down and out Skid Row floral assistant Seymour becomes and overnight sensation when he discovers an exotic plant with a mysterious craving for fresh blood. Soon 'Audrey II' grows into an ill-tempered, foul mouthed, R'n'B singing carnivore offering him fame and fortune in exchange for for feeding its growing appetite.

SINGIN' IN THE RAIN

May 19-23

STARRING West End and Broadway star Tim Flavin, this production features all the style and spectacle of the golden age.

Singin' in the Rain has a host of some of the best loved comedy routines, dance numbers and songs ever written including Good Morning, Make 'em Laugh, Moses Supposes, You Were Meant For me and of course the most famous song and dance number of all time Singing' in the Rain.

CHRYSALLIS THEATRE WILLEN 07979 403517

HOTEL PARADISO

May 20-23

The Paradiso is a sleazy Parisian hotel chosen by Monsieur Boniface as the setting for an illicit night with Madam Cot, the wife of his best friend.

This being classic French farce, it naturally follows that Monsieur Cot happens to be investigating ghosts in the same hotel on the same night.

And that is not all; there is a nephew interested in passion by Spinoza and a maid interested in passion for itself alone; there is an acquaintance who stammers when it rains, up from the country with his four daughters and a hotel manager who is Italian.

The number of rooms and doors are barely equal to the strain of the complications that follow. The show promises to be a farce that will have your sides splitting with laughter.

The play by Maurice Desvallieres and Georges Feydeau is performed t by local theatre group Longueville

Little Theatre Company.

Tickets £8, £6.50 concessions. 50p discount for tickets booked and payed for in advance online from www.lltc.co.uk or call 07979 403517.

Curtain up at 7.30pm.

MK GALLERY

A PERFECT START TO AN EVENING

Margaret Powell Square and Milton Keynes Gallery

Friday,May 15. 7-10pm.

LOST and Found (the new name for the MK Gallery's Young People's Project, which is a three-year scheme for 15-24 year olds, funded by The Big Lottery) is producing an evening of contemporary local art, music, film, poetry readings and a one-off performance inspired by Milton Keynes Gallery's current James Lee Byars exhibition and in particular his constant search for perfection.

The event is free for all to attend, and is the first event of the Milton Keynes Arts Open Weekend. Margaret Powell Square, which is the large area outside the Theatre and Gallery, will be transformed with unusual events. Films will be projected against the Gallery's walls, there will be a large circular gold stage, on which there will be performances, live poetry and music. The main performance will be by two young composers from Birmingham Conservatoire, Pete Yelding and Simon Goff. Inspired by James Lee Byars interest in 'Noh Theatre' and his continual search for perfection.

There will also be a paper lantern release later into the evening, free art activities, giveaways, candy floss and refreshments. Admission free

Become a custody officer in the care and justice service

G4S provides offender management and immigration services, court services, electronic monitoring, children's services and detention and escorting

HAVE you ever wondered about a career within the care and justice service?

You have probably seen G4S cash services crews on the High Streets transporting cash to banks and G4S security guards too, at the airports and in shops.

But did you know that another vital role the company has is in its care and justice service?

It is here that G4S provides offender management and immigration services, court services, electronic monitoring, children's services and detention and escorting.

The service employs more than 8,000 people nationally.

It also works with public and private partners, including the not-for-profit sector, healthcare providers and employment agencies to deliver the services and support networks to the people that it are responsible for.

It is the main provider of in-country escorting within the UK and escorted and non-escorted repatriation services overseas to the UK Border Agency.

It manages safe and secure short-term holding facilities at ports around the country and its staff also work at immigration reporting centres.

G4S is currently on the look-out for people to join as detainee custody officers across the UK.

Every employee receives an annual appraisal and is able to give and receive feedback.

Every employee is also given the opportunity to develop their skills to perform at their best in their role.

If you are interested in working for G4S, visit their website www.g4s.com/uk-justice for more information.

TAKING a draw into a second-leg at home would please most people but not Jude Stirling.

Honours are even following a 1-1 draw at Scunthorpe United which has set up a mouthwatering match at stadiummk.

But Stirling couldn't quite raise a smile to the result due to his frustration at allowing Martyn Woolford to score in the 13th minute.

Woolford pounced on Paul Hayes' parried shot to force the Dons to come from behind early in the game.

"I think as defenders we've got to react quicker," Stirling said, "Willy's made the save – that's what he's paid to do. As defenders, myself and Miguel (Llera), we've got to react quicker it's in the middle of the goal we've got to get there.

"I think the slight disappointment is that we didn't win the game. We've scored one goal away from home, that should be enough to win. I'm unhappy that we've conceded but we know we're more than capable of beating them on our own patch."

It speaks volumes about the standards set in the Dons' camp that the one error was preying on the defender's mind. Especially when for the remainder of the game, after the nerves had disappeared and confidence grew, Stirling, Llera, Dean Lewington and Carl Regan were pretty solid.

They managed to keep 30-goal Gary Hooper relatively quiet, bar a disallowed goal when the Dons lost possession, and somehow blocked goalbound efforts from Krystian Pearce and Grant McCann late on.

It wasn't one way traffic.

This fast paced and furious first-leg was end-to-end, and 14 minutes after falling a goal down the Dons were back on level terms.

The corner which resulted in the equaliser was heavily disputed by Scunthorpe as the ball did appear to come off Peter Leven.

But most Dons fans would argue that a number of decisions went against them in the season and it was about time lady luck was on their side.

Llera was first to head on to Mark Wright's delivery, which Stirling then nodded on for Wilbraham. The striker caught the Iron defence sleeping as he planted the ball past keeper Joe Murphy.

Dons' best chance to take the lead came from another set-piece as Leven found Llera unmarked at the far post, but from 10-yards out the centre back couldn't keep his header down.

Sam Baldock was also denied late on but Roberto Di Matteo was full of praise for his side.

He said:"We showed a very good, mature performance even after we went down one-nil. We showed a good reaction, never lost our composure, stayed in the game, managed to equalise. We had quite a bit of possession and some good chances as well."

So now it's all down to Friday's match at stadiummk.

PREVIEW

SCUNTHORPE UNITED
Play-off semi-final second-leg
Friday, May 15
KO 7.45pm
stadiummk

THE game now comes down to events at stadiummk this Friday.

As the away goal does not count, if the scores remain tied after 90 minutes the game will go into extra-time. If the teams are still on level terms the place at Wembley will be decided by a penalty shoot-out.

The first final place will already be filled by the winner of the Leeds-Millwall game.

Millwall head to Elland Road on Thursday with a one goal advantage, but they face a tough task keeping Leeds quiet on their own turf.

Neil Swarbrick has been appointed as the match official for the game at stadiummk.

The Lancashire referee has taken charge of 35 games this season, handing out 78 yellow cards and four reds in the process.

Swarbrick has refereed two Dons games this year, the 3-1 win at Hartlepool and the 2-0 defeat at Leeds.

He was also the top official when Scunthorpe beat Millwall earlier in the season.

Red Bull on a roll

RED Bull Racing have discovered a winning mentality which is driving them on to success.

The hunger for winning means the team are disappointed when they don't finish on the podium, let alone when they miss out on the points, according to driver Mark Webber.

But the Tilbrook-based team were jumping for joy again at the Spanish Grand Prix as their rich vein of form continues with Webber grabbing third place.

And team mate Sebastian Vettel finished on his tail in fourth place, both behind Brawn's Jenson Button and Rubens Barrichello who came first and second respectively.

Webber, who had started in fifth place, said: "It's good to be back on the podium. It's interesting how the team's mentality has changed last year we would have been happy to score points and now we want podiums at every race.

"We're working incredibly hard and the guys' eyes are falling out of their heads with all the late nights and long hours."

The Aussie added: "I was very happy with the way I drove and the car was fantastic. I expect Monaco will be closer than this, but the way the car performed here, on a circuit that is a tough test on a car, is a good sign for places like Turkey and Silverstone."

Despite helping Red Bull to move 12 points clear in second place in the constructors championship, Vettel was upset to finish in fourth having started second on the grid.

He said:"My start wasn't the best by the first corner Rubens (Barrichello) was first and I was fourth, so obviously we lost some positions most importantly to Massa. It's obviously disappointing as my car was quick today, but I couldn't finish on the podium."

Red Bull are now going back to the drawing board at the hope of having a double-decker diffuser in place for the Monaco Grand Prix on Sunday, May 24.

SPORTSSHORTS

Four Counties cricket
NORTH Crawley opened a six point gap at the top of Morrants Four Counties division one with a 137 run win over Old Bradwell.

Glenn Young's 87 and a solid display from Stewart Phillipson (58) helped Crawley declare for 258-4 before Richard Braybrook claimed 3-17 as Old Bradwell were dismissed for 121.

MK City beat Winslow Town by 100 runs to keep up the chase on Crawley.

Winslow's Fenton Price took 4-38 as City were bowled out for 171, but the bowling of Sanka Edirisinghe destroyed any chances of them winning, claiming five wickets for one run to hand City the points.

Aspley Guise (171-9) lost by six wickets to Eaton Bray (172-4) and Cublington (174-8) lost to New Bradwell (176-8) by two wickets.

Azerbaijan at Dons
ENGLAND Under-21s will return to stadiummk in June to take on Azerbaijan, as revealed by MK NEWS last month.

The friendly will be their final warm-up ahead of the summer's UEFA European Championships in Sweden.

Stuart Pearce's side will travel to Milton Keynes Monday, June 8 (kick-off 7.30pm).

It is their second trip to stadiummk, the first was a 2-0 Euro qualifier victory against Bulgaria in November 2007.

Poulter pipped
IAN Poulter was pipped to the Players Championship on the final day by Henrik Stenson. The Woburn professional would have been in confident mood heading in to the final round, especially as German Alex Cejka threw away a five-shot lead.

However, Sweden's Stenson hit six birdies in a round of 66 to finish 12 under and win by four. Poulter, who shot a three at the par-four 15th to finish ahead of American duo John Mallinger and Kevin Na, shot 70 at Sawgrass.

Defenders hold the key to Wembley trip – Di Matteo

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

Ball watching: Everyone turns to see Aaron Wilbraham's header loop into the net to secure the Dons a deserved draw in the first leg

SEAN O'Hanlon remains a doubt for the second leg of MK Dons' League One play-off against Scunthorpe United.

The centre back once again did not take part in full training with the squad at Woughton on the Green yesterday.

He did take part in an earlier session but the Dons are now sweating on whether he will be fit or not to feature in the massive clash this Friday.

Should O'Hanlon, voted by football writers and the supporters' association as the Dons' player of the season last month, miss out Jude Stirling is likely to keep his place alongside Miguel Llera.

Although Danny Swailes, who has featured just two times this season due to an Achilles injury, has been involved in training for two weeks and travelled with the squad to Scunthorpe last week.

It is the team's defending, throughout the team, that Roberto Di Matteo has urged his players to improve if they are to win a place at Wembley.

Dons conceded a sloppy goal at Glanford Park before Aaron Wilbraham's header set up the second leg with all things square at 1-1.

Di Matteo said: "Of course we're confident, I think we did well but we made some mistakes which hopefully we wont make on Friday. In these kind of games you need to cut down the mistakes as much as possible because otherwise they cost you."

And Nigel Adkins is one man who is determined to make the Dons pay for errors made. Straight after the first leg the Scunthorpe manager tried to up the pressure by insisting his team have won at stadiummk once before this season and can do it again.

But that wont stop the Dons from playing their usual expansive game.

Di Matteo said: "The fact that we've scored many goals means we play the right kind of football, the attractive football that we like to play and we try to combine it with successful football."

The Italian was dubbed 'the coolest man in football' by TV commentators during the draw with Scunthorpe. But Di Matteo says just because he has a calm exterior doesn't mean he does not care, in fact, far from it, he said: "I just like to be in control of the situation.

"If I jump around and I'm not focused in my head I wont be able to make the right calls for the team, the right decisions. I try to stay focused and not get phased too much."

SHOULD the Dons make it to the play-off final tickets will go on sale to season ticket holders at 10am on Sunday, May 17, and on general sale on Monday, May 18 at 8am. For more information visit www.mkdons.com
